

VIDEO FOR LEARNING. RECONCEIVED. STUDENTS RECORD. TEACHERS WATCH.

To really learn, students need to do more than watch and listen. They learn by doing. WeVu is built to harness student smartphones, video, and cloud sharing so students get the practice and feedback they need as they do the things they're learning.

Sure, WeVu hosts and plays video. But your program needs much more than that. You need a two-way dialogue, student-to-instructor-to-student, around recordings of students using their skills. Here's what WeVu lets you do for student learning.

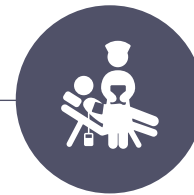

FLEXIBLE SHARING

Access to audio and video, plus the comments made on them, can be limited to any group of users: programs, classes, groups within classes, or completely private for individuals. Users can include students, teachers, and community partners.

FEEDBACK & DIALOGUE

Videos become a place for dialogue. Comments and feedback are given at precise points in time and precise locations on the screen. Just like we comment in Google Docs, comments in WeVu are pinpointed where they're needed.

ASSURANCE OF LEARNING

Student-recorded video, recorded off-campus, or in clinical or placement settings, can be reviewed to check that learning experiences are taking place and to demonstrate mastery for quality assurance and accreditation processes.

PRACTICE. FEEDBACK. LEARNING.

is what you get when...

Anyone can record anywhere, anytime.
And you can share videos with the right people.
And you have comments and feedback along the video.

BUILT FOR INSTRUCTORS TO GIVE FEEDBACK

Instead of hectic debrief sessions with tight scheduling, WeVu makes feedback a convenient, efficient process for instructors. Instructors can focus on giving feedback. Students have time to reflect on the feedback and try again.

ANALYTICS
DATA

WeVu collects fine-grained data on viewing and commenting. That means you can ensure students watch and engage with video. Download the comments to understand and reward what your students are saying about the video.

STUDENT PORTFOLIO

Students can SEE their progress. They practice, get feedback, and then try again. Then when they master the skills, they can share from WeVu as a portfolio for employers. Students love seeing their learning happen.
